KANEKA CORPORATION

Kaneka Refreshes "For Bread" Series of Milk Beverages
- Uses Straws Made of Kaneka Biodegradable Polymer Green Planet™ -

On March 22, Kaneka Corporation (Headquarters: Minato-ku, Tokyo; President: Minoru Tanaka) will refresh its "For Bread"^{*1} series of milk beverage products, whose first release was in 2018. Through its affiliate company Kaneka Shokuhin Co., Ltd. (Headquarters: Shinjuku-ku, Tokyo; President: Genichiro Kocho), the "For Bread" new products will be sold in bakeries, supermarkets, convenience stores, drugstores, the Kaneka Online Shop^{*2}, and other retailers.

As part of this product series refresh, the flexible straws used for 200 ml packs will be made of Kaneka Biodegradable Polymer Green Planet™ (referred to below as Green Planet™), a unique Kaneka material, to help create a sustainable, recycling-oriented societies and solve the issues of plastic pollution. Green Planet™ is a 100% plant-derived biodegradable polymer developed by Kaneka. It is exceptionally biodegradable in a wide range of environments, such as in seawater and in soil.

We've also reflected the comments our customers regarding the product package design in order to better convey the rich flavor and refreshing aftertaste of "For Bread" products, which bring out the delicious flavor of bread.

With high quality raw milk from Hokkaido and the technologies of Pur Natur, Kaneka will further expand its lineup of products focusing on delicious flavor and health while encouraging to make society more sustainable and creating products that customers love.

*1. Milk beverage offering refreshing aftertaste while maintaining the richness of raw milk by adopting Belgian company, Pur Natur's proprietary sterilization method. Lineup includes "Milk for Bread" "Café au lait for Bread" "Milk Tea for Bread".
